Amala

SCAN FOR MORE INFO

Jason P. Amala has dedicated his law practice to representing people and businesses who have been victimized by others. The majority of his work is on behalf of survivors of childhood sexual abuse, but he continues to help people who have been severely injured and need an attorney and law firm who can navigate the most complex of cases and the most difficult of defense attorneys and insurance companies.

Jason began helping survivors of childhood sexual abuse after the clergy sexual abuse scandal came to light in Boston. At the time, Washington state was one of the only states in the country that had meaningfully reformed its statute of limitations so that adult survivors of childhood sexual abuse could bring civil claims for the abuse they suffered as children. Jason has represented hundreds of sexual abuse survivors in Washington state, including clients with claims against the Archdiocese of Seattle, the Boy Scouts of America, the Mormon Church, the State of Washington (foster system), Backpage.com, various schools, and many other youth-serving organizations.

Given his experience in Washington, Jason is often asked to help law firms in other states when their state's statute of limitations is reformed so that abuse survivors can seek justice. He has co-counseled with law firms around the country, including in California, New York, New Jersey, Illinois, North Carolina, and Oregon.

JEFF ANDERSON
Trial Attorney
Jeff Anderson
& Associates

SCAN FOR MORE INFO

Jeff Anderson is widely recognized as a pioneer in sexual abuse litigation and a champion of survivors of childhood sexual abuse. In nearly four decades as a litigator, Jeff has represented thousands of survivors and their families and has tried over two hundred and fifty jury trials to verdict across the country through the crucible of the courtroom. Known for his optimism, energy and compassion for his clients, Jeff is credited with being instrumental in exposing the large scale cover-up of pedophile priests in the early 1980's. As one of the first trial lawyers in America to publicly and aggressively initiate lawsuits against sexual predators—and focusing on bringing heat and light on the offenders and the institutions that conceal and protect them.

Jeff has received many awards and recognitions but his greatest honor is the trust reposed in him by survivors and their families. From them he draws strength, courage, and inspiration in the shared journey of hope and healing.

Anderson's tireless efforts extend beyond the courtroom where he is a frequent lecturer, survivor advocate, and author who advocates for legislative and judicial protection of children and the prevention of childhood sexual abuse.

JOHN W. BALDANTE

Partner
Levy, Baldante, Finney
& Rubenstein, P.C.

SCAN FOR MORE INFO

John W. Baldante concentrates his practice representing victims of sexual abuse and handling severe personal injury cases, such as brain and spinal cord injuries, medical malpractice litigation, and product liability matters.

He is admitted to practice law in New Jersey and Pennsylvania and has received numerous honors for results he has obtained for clients. Among his achievements, his closing argument in a multi-million-dollar verdict was entered into the Association of Trial Lawyers of America's Professional Techniques Library for Multi-Million Dollar Arguments. He was recognized for obtaining the largest single personal injury award in the Tri-State region, only to top that effort a few years later by setting a new personal injury award threshold.

John has fought tenaciously for hundreds of victims of clergy sexual abuse and has served as a lead plaintiffs' liaison counsel against Catholic Church dioceses throughout New Jersey and Pennsylvania. His range as an attorney has also encompassed a large variety of catastrophic personal injury cases, ranging from sex abuse cases, severe brain injuries, amputations, quadriplegia, and much more. Virtually each year since the 1990s, John's verdicts and/or settlements have been among the largest personal injury awards both in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and he has been awarded the designation of both Philadelphia Super Lawyer and New Jersey Super Lawyer every year since the inception of these awards by Philadelphia Magazine, Pennsylvania Super Lawyers Magazine, New Jersey Monthly and New Jersey Super Lawyers Magazine.

MATTHIAS CONATY

Deputy Attorney
General, PA

SCAN FOR MORE INFO

Matt Conaty is an attorney and a dedicated survivor-advocate who helped to lead the Coalition to Pass the Child Victim's Act (www.childvictimsvoice.com/). The 2007 law successfully reformed Delaware's civil statute of limitations for victims of childhood sexual abuse in Delaware. Conaty served as the Co-Chair of the Creditors' Committee in the Catholic Diocese of Wilmington Chapter 11 bankruptcy. The survivor-led Creditors' Committee negotiated landmark non-monetary provisions with the Debtor.

Matt has made numerous media appearances to discuss child sexual abuse prevention and institutional accountability, including with the Associated Press, in The New York Times and The Wall Street Journal, and on The Oprah Winfrey Show.

Matt served on the board of directors of the National Association to Prevent Sexual Abuse of Children and as the vice chair for the National Child Protection Training Center board of directors from 2007 to 2013. Matt served on the board of directors of the Prevent Child Abuse Delaware from November 2016 to December 2022. Conaty is a Deputy Attorney General in the Pennsylvania Office of Attorney General's Public Protection Division.

GREG GIANFORCARO

Gianforcaro Law

SCAN FOR MORE INFO

Gregory Gianforcaro is one of the preeminent attorneys in New Jersey for litigating childhood sexual abuse cases. For 25 plus years, Greg has fought for those who have suffered from childhood sexual abuse, taking on the abusers, the Catholic Church, various private and public schools, and other institutions that have protected and/or covered up for perpetrators.

Greg truly understands the life-long damage childhood sexual abuse causes. Greg has represented hundreds of survivors of childhood sexual abuse, including many of Greg's childhood friends who were sexually abused by their parish priest. While Greg has been able to obtain many sizable settlements on behalf of his clients, his primary goal is to assist his clients in taking back the power and control that they lost as children and provide them with some closure.

With more than three decades of practicing law in New Jersey, Greg knows the make-up and how to best interact with judges, opposing attorneys, insurance companies, and other important parties in the legal system.

Greg's insights and commentary about childhood sexual abuse and other issues have been featured in The Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, The New Jersey Law Journal, CNN, Fox News, The Star Ledger, The Bergen Record, 101.5 Radio, and many other news outlets.

In times of crisis, companies and their stakeholders turn to Brent Weisenberg to identify and implement innovative solutions in order to solve critical business problems. Brent regularly advises businesses and their constituencies throughout periods of financial challenge and other special situations such as the negotiation and implementation of complex commercial transactions, the acquisition and disposition of distressed assets, and the prosecution and defense of complex commercial litigation.

Since joining Lowenstein, Brent's practice has focused on assisting survivors of sexual abuse in Diocesan bankruptcy cases. In the Diocese of Camden case, Brent and the Lowenstein team assisted the Official Committee of Tort Claimant Creditors in negotiating a settlement on behalf of more than 300 survivors of childhood sexual abuse, where the Diocese agreed to pay $87.5 million in cash—the largest cash payment by any Catholic diocese in bankruptcy to date—and assign its insurance rights to a trust for the benefit of survivors. This record-breaking settlement concluded a long fight to secure restitution and accountability for survivors who filed lawsuits against the Diocese and its parishes under the landmark New Jersey legislation that radically reformed the state's civil statute of limitations for survivors of sexual assault.

Brent serves as a key advisor to CHILD USA, the leading national nonprofit think tank fighting to protect children from future abuse and neglect and bring justice to survivors. He has quickly become a thought leader in this field and has spoken on the myriad issues raised in Diocesan bankruptcies.
